To Our Florist and Nurseryman Friends:

We look forward to 1940 with a feeling of optimism. We cannot help feeling that you florists and nurserymen, and, in fact, all of us, will begin to get some real breaks and some opportunities that will make our work more profitable than in the past few years.

Seed stocks for the most part are in excellent condition. Fortunately, our American specialists can deliver excellent strains of the most-needed and valuable annuals, and many of the most popular perennial varieties also, such as Delphinium and Aquilegias and numberless others.

Many new varieties are coming from American growers this year, and still others from our leading European specialist growers. On page 35 of this Catalog we go into more detail on the European situation in reference to seed supply.

To better the quality of our seed, we have still further increased our efforts. We have traveled a great many miles since last season inspecting parent stocks and trials in order to get the very best for our customers. Our germination trials and other checks are more complete than ever before.

Please accept this Catalog with sincere thanks for orders sent us in the past. We look forward to many future pleasant transactions with you. The best of luck from your seedsmen

THE MARTIN-PRATT SEED CO.

If you grow Perennials, be sure to ask for our "Perennial Date List" described on page 23.

FLOWER SPECIALTIES

We have included on these two pages what we consider the leading brand-new introductions and also some of the better introductions of the past few years.

Ageratum, Midget Blue

Honorable Mention, 1940. A new shade in this valuable wilt-resistant type—fascinating rich lively rose. Large blooms formed like the Giants of California with grand long stems for cutting. Tr. pkt. 40c; 1/8oz. 75c; 1/4oz. $1.40.

Aster, American Branching, Rosalie

Spotlight. A livelier, brighter effect than Harmony as the crested center is a vivid yellow, making a sharper contrast with the mahogany outer petals. In earliness and form same as the original Harmony. Foliage has less of the Marigold odor. Tr. pkt. 40c; 1/8oz. $1.50.

Dwarf Harmony Hybrids. Extremely showy as a bed or border. Contains many new breaks and shades, all of the characteristic Harmony-flowered form and plant-growth. Early and free blooming. Tr. pkt. 35c; 1/8oz. $1.35.

King Henry. Illustrated in color on inside Back Cover. The most compact and dwarf strain in a deep velvety red Petunia. Our trials showed almost perfect uniformity in plant-growth and flowering. Tr. pkt. 50c; 1/8oz. $1.25; 1/4oz. $2.00; 1/2oz. $3.50.

Ladybird. The bright carmine-scarlet of the flowers is most striking. Excellent dwarf plants, yet very free blooming. Tr. pkt. 75c.

Ornamental Pepper, Variegated-leaved

An excellent pot-plant for Christmas bloom, the leaves being variegated with dark green, white, and sometimes purple. The fruits, borne in clusters, are at first green changing to bright red. Ipomoea,
Heavenly Blue,
Improved

Ipomoea • Morning-Glory

For the best results with Heavenly Blue and other Ipomoeas, start the seed early enough to have good, strong plants in 4-inch pots to set out in late May. They bloom best in soil rather low in fertility and in a fairly dry location.

You will get quicker and better germination if the seeds are soaked in water a few hours before planting. Nicking or filing the seed-coat allows moisture to reach the germ quicker.

ANNUAL LARKSPUR

Excellent Strains for the Greenhouse and Outdoors

Many florists are finding Annual Larkspurs profitable greenhouse crops. They are easy to grow, the seed is inexpensive, and the crop is made in a comparatively short time. Sowings of seed in the greenhouse during December and January will give excellent crops during late April and May. Sow the outdoor crop as early as your soil is in workable condition.

Varieties marked with asterisk (*) are most salable as cut-flowers.

DOUBLENESS IN STOCKS

While the quality of the seeds affects the percentage of doubleness in Stocks, there are other factors also which have a bearing on the quality of the spikes you grow. Selection of the most vigorous seedlings and those showing serrated leaves will increase your percentage of doubles. Singles in the early stages usually have entire marginal leaves, while the doubles are indented. Stocks grow best in a temperature of 48 to 50 degrees and warmer temperatures are liable to cause blindness. Experiments have shown that precooling the young plants (when showing about 4 leaves) for two weeks in a temperature of 40 degrees will result in earlier flowers and better spikes. A high nitrogen content in the soil is another factor favorably influencing doubleness.

PERENNIAL SEEDS

For the Nurseryman, Landscape Gardener, and Florist

Perennials have such widespread uses that practically every grower who sells plants or cut-flowers to home-owners, and who has adequate space, should grow at least the leading perennial varieties.

For landscaping, Perennials are indispensable, and no florist can overlook the cut-flower possibilities of the finest Delphiniums and Shasta Daisies, for instance. A well-chosen planting of Perennials can undoubtedly increase your sales, both of plants and of cut-flowers.

Most Perennial Seeds may be sown in the greenhouse in the winter or spring months, or in the spring or summer in frames. We shall be glad to supply specific directions for any varieties about which you are doubtful. Our "Perennial Date List," described on page 23, will be gladly sent on request.

We have marked (R) after the variety name of the best varieties for rock-gardens.

WILL THE EUROPEAN WAR AFFECT OUR SEED STOCKS?

There is no denying the fact that many excellent seed stocks come from growers in England, Holland, France, and Germany. We have received many letters lately from our good friends among the specialists over there. They all express the desire and ability to continue their relations with us and to supply us with seeds of the usual high quality.

Our costs are increased somewhat because of insurance rates, etc., and doubtless there will be delays and difficulties. But as this is written we confidently expect to fill up requirements on our entire list.

Ordering well in advance of actual sowing date is advisable on your part. You will be immediately notified as to conditions on any part of your order which cannot be filled at once. Early ordering will go a long way toward your obtaining all the seed and the kind of seed that you want to make up your plantings just as planned. You may depend on this absolutely—we will notify "cannot supply" rather than send you a single item that we consider of questionable quality.
